

Butterfly on-chip network

Joyen Benitto

Introduction

A butterfly network is a quasiessential indirect network i.e its a fat-tree network or a multi staged interconnect network, where intermediate switches are used to route traffic and to achieve high bandwidth and scalability.